Another Inquiry About Silver.

Editor Intelligencer.
Will you be kind enough to decide the following bet? S. bets B. that January 1, 1873, a silver dollar was equal to a gold dollar for paying customs, paying for bonds, paying interest on same, and a legal tender for any amount.

A SUBSCRIBER.

ANSWER.

As we have already explained, the American silver dollar was a full legal tender up to January 1st, 1873. Fractional parts of a dollar were a legal ten-der up to $5 only. The Spanish dollars payment of public lands, but were not a full legal tender for all purposes. There were in reality, however, no other silver

A respected reader, a member of the Catholic priesthood in West Va. sends us a clip from the New York Herald of Jana city from the New York and the unity 6th, containing an article in regard to the ecclesiastical relations between a priest and his bishop in this country, which he desires us to reproduce in the INTELLIGENCER. To oblige him, and as a matter of possible interst to other readers, we herewith append the article as

The controversy between Father Kir-wan and Bishop Corrigan, of Newark, has created no little excitement in the diocreated no little excrement in the discovering the colesion comprising the metropolitan ecclesisatical province of New York. The statement of Bishop Corrigan to a Herald representative, as published in Monday's Herald, that canon law does Monday's Herald, that canon law does not exist in this country, has given rise to revere comment among the clergy, not only in the diocese of Newark, but in the archdioceses of New York and Philadelphia. A prominent theologian in the diocese of Newark, who is the author of soveral works on canon law and who finished his studies in the Propaganda, declares that the position assumed by Bishop Corrigan is untenable. A member of the Bishop's council states that he voted for a complete and impartial trial in Father Kirwan's case and that he disapproved entirely of the so called trial proposed by the Bishop, wherein the deposed pastor was required to accept as part of the res gestar testim ony taken ex parte.

for no Bishop in this country will be retained to deny the existence of canon law. If canon law does not exist he cannot assume the title of bishop. He will simply be a vicar apostolic. Neither can he ordain priests once a year, as is now the custom. There are three conditions under which ordination can take place. First titulo patrimonic, when the candidate for priesthood dust furnish proof that he has property to support himself; secondly, titulo missionia, which is, freely translated. "The laborer is worthy of his hire," or in other words, the Bishop must appoint him to come mission in which he can be supported, and thirdly, titulo religious, which has no bearing on this question, as every community of the regular clergy provides for the maintenance of its own members.

Answer-most assuredly, to a certain extent. It exists to the fullest extent, not coupons, and that the bondholders be allowed to fund their bonds in three per entitence has never been questioned, and in Belgium, which has furnished us with profound writers on canon law, and which to this day supplies the United States and other countries with many priests. With respect to the merits of the care as between Bishop Corrigan and Father Kirwan I declico to express any opinion, as I am unacquainted with the facts. The only information I received was through the Herald.

Reporter—Where do you draw the line between removal and suspension in the case of a priest who fills the office of pastor?

Ansecr—Lidraw no line whatever. Removal, though tecnnically not suspension, though tecnnically not suspension.

Asser-I draw no line whatever. Removal, though tecnnically not suspension, is so virtually. Deprivation of office in one's parish is ipso facto suspension. That has never been denied.

A Herald reporter called on Father Kirwan in reference to the controversy, and he made the following statement:

I was surprised to see the charges preferred against me for the first time in the Herald. I had repeatedly asked my Bishop to furnish me with a copy of the charges, but he refused. The fact that I was first notified of these charges through the columns of a secular paper will be one of the strong points in my favor before the Holy See. The Bishop's letters

A woman never so fully realizes her de nce upon man as when she undertakes to sharpen a lead pencil. Some husbands, it is said, write "W. P." in the corner of their letters, which neans "wife permitting." The Emperor of Germany has an inome of $4,800,000, but the crown prince has to support his family on a paltry

Well, he's ruined. She is very rich. Now he'll give up his profession of the law, where he had great ability, and become ressly a rich man-the least useful of human things. Poor Smith."

In Louisa county, Virginia, a few days ago, Robert Appleby was shot in the neck by Lindsay Poindexter, in accordance, it taken ex parte.

"This is really a case that is very plain to my mind," said an eminent divine of the archdiocese of New York to a Herald representative. "I think Bishop Corrigan has not been correctly quoted, for no Bishop in this country will undertake to deny the existence of canon law. If canon law does not exist he canal with the contract to be delivered and traded on a certain day, the one falling to come to the contract to be shot. charges, but he refused. The fact that I was first notified of these charges through the columns of a scenlar paper will be one of the strong points in my favor before the Holy See. The Bishop's letters in my possession will prove that he refused me a trial.

Reporter—Have you any objection to produce those letters?

Ansæer—Certainly. It would be a contempt of the ecclesiasticatourtin which my case must be judged. I will forward the entire correspondence to Rome, and you will excuse me if I decline to say anything further on the subject.

Reporter—But do you deny the charges the Bishop makes against you?

Ansæer—Well, I hardly know yet what are the specific charge. In his letters he charges me with bad temper and difficulty of living peacesbly with my congregation, and in his interview with the Sisters. I deny those charges, and I insist they ought to be investigated. The Bishop states that he treated me with kindness. That kindness consisted in expelling ene, without the slightest warning, from my parish, depriving me of my functions in that parish and relegating me to a hotel in Jersey City, where I was obliged to remain for a month before the Bishop would give any explanation whatever. The Holy See has just rendered another decision in the case of a pastor in the diocese of Detroit Mich., against Bishop Borgess. The Bishop, it appears, not only removed the pastor from his charge, but alterward denounced hum from the pulpit. The aggrieved priest appealed to Rome and the action of the Bishop has been reversed. It is declared in the judgment that the Bishop shall not only restore the pastor to his charge but shall make public apology for the injury he has done him. This case was analogous to that in the diocese of Louisville and to the present controversy in the diocese of Newark

Starving to Death.

New York, February 3.—There is a great deal of suffering among the poor of Hoboken. The fund set apart by the city for their relief is exhausted, and those dependent upon it are now thrown upon the charity of their neighbors, who, unthe charity of their neighbors, who, unfortunately, in many cases are unable to give them aid. Councilmen Plunkett, Schmidt and Cressey went to Trenton on Saturday, and requested Assemblyman Lewis to secure the immediate passage of a bill empowering the Common Council of Hoboken to appropriate $3,000 or $4,000 to the Poor Fund. It is expected that the bill will be passed early this week.

A LAST GREETING

A LAST GREETING.

Among the numerous notable sympathetic creations of the celebrated artist, Gabriel Max, who stands first among the painters of the Munich school, are touteling scenes of the Minich school, are touteling scenes of the Minich school, are touteling scenes of the Minich school, are touteling scenes of the blind girl holding the poor motherless child, "Julia Capulet," carried by the nun, also the crushed widow compelled to look on the auction of her distinguished property. But by many, "A Last Greeting" is considered his masterplece. It represents a lovely maiden, who has been cast into the arens, in pagan Rome, to be deroured by the savage beasts, for the delectation of the inhuman mob. She leans against the encircling stone wall; at her feet, broken by their fall, he some simple wild flowers; impleringly she looks up, seeking the hand from which they came. Her whole life, like some gignatic panorama, swiftly flashes through the fervish brain, every act stands out with painful distinctness. Deeply she realizes how often the same strong hand, which now alone bestows a last farewell, had been profered. Ably it would have protected, beside ensuring comfort, happiness, and health, had she not carelessly and disdainfully tursed away. Women suffering from those chronic weaknesses peculiar to their sex are prone to just such actions. Every day they hear of the Favorite Prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Wold's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. Thousands of these sufferers write in universal commendation of its great excellence and worth. Once within the dreaded pale of disease, it is worse than folly to be careless, and delay the use of this positive means of cure. Ladies suffering from weakness, bearing-down pain, or weak back, and nervous prostration, will find this a specific remedy. On receipt of $150, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book of over nue hundred large pages, will be sent post-paid. It contains a clear and concise description of the numerous diseases with es with which women are afflicted. A ress the author, R. V. Pierce, M. D. Bu
